A Note from the Dean

Congratulations, Class of 2021!

On behalf of our faculty and staff, I offer heartfelt congratulations to all who are graduating. Despite the unique challenges of the past year, you made it. This ceremony marks a significant personal and professional milestone in your lives, and we are honored to celebrate it with you.

We want to acknowledge the remarkable achievements you've made and the journey you took to get here. Your development doesn't end at the UO School of Journalism and Communication (SOJC). You will continue to evolve and grow throughout your careers as you apply the skills you have gained to make a difference in your professions and your communities.

It may sound like a cliché, but it's true: You are our future. You will shape the way we live in our world. You will help us understand each other better, make research more accessible, and find new ways to share important information with broad audiences.

Under the guidance of our world-class faculty in Eugene and Portland, you have gained relevant knowledge, practiced professional skills, built strong portfolios, and developed meaningful relationships. The lessons you learned along the way—in the classroom and the field—have prepared you for the next leg of your journey.

As you head out to change the world, know that you are not alone. You are now a member of a strong community of SOJC alumni. You can stand proudly alongside your fellow professionals in advertising, journalism, media studies, public relations, and strategic communication with confidence in your abilities and your contributions to the field.

You have worked hard to get here today. Please keep cultivating your robust and unique voices. You make us proud to call ourselves Ducks.
