A Note from the Dean

Congratulations, Class of 2020! This ceremony marks a significant personal and professional milestone in your lives, and we are honored to celebrate it with you.

I know this year has not been what any of us expected. Your education and your lives were thrown into disarray by a global pandemic. Your nation and your communities have been rocked by social upheaval, calling on us all to face up to the systemic racism and inequities that have plagued our nation for centuries. Many of you have engaged in hard conversations and difficult changes. All of this has been uncomfortable and painful—but it has been necessary for growth.

Today, we acknowledge that growth, your remarkable achievements, and the journey that led you here. Under the guidance of our faculty in Eugene and Portland, you have gained relevant knowledge, practiced professional skills, built strong portfolios, and developed meaningful relationships. The lessons you have learned along the way—in the classroom and the field, in conversations with your peers and mentors, and while working at home—have prepared you for the next leg of your journey.

Your development doesn't end at the SOJC. You will continue to evolve and grow throughout your career as you apply your skills to the transformation of society and the professions we serve. You will shape the way we live in our world, help us understand each other better, and share crucial information with the audiences that need it most. That is a very important role to play.

As you head out to change the world, know that you are not alone. You are now a member of a strong community of SOJC alumni. You can stand proudly alongside your fellow professionals in advertising, journalism, media studies, and public relations, confident in your abilities and your contributions to the field.

You have worked hard to get here today. Please keep cultivating your strong, unique voice. You make us proud to call ourselves Ducks.
